The genre of focus here is on a exposition when the writer tries to persuade the reader by showing one side of a story or giving a specific point of view,

P37 has an activity where safety is mentioned. Our safety is so important as we approach our summer holidays. Children on farms tend to be involved more with farm activities, children near water tend to explore more water based activities etc. Safety awareness in our environment is important to prevent injury or loss of life.

Design two posters to highlight safety issues on farms and near water

You can then send an image of these to joandonnelly09@gmail.com

I sent home the novel Holes this week. You can read to p68 and after this reading, describe what type of person the warden was. Don't worry if you do not have the book. This is optional.
